WOOSTER CELEBRATES.

SPEECH MADE BY JUDGE FORAKER.
 An Address by the Ex-Republican Candidate for Governor of Ohio before a Republican Audience.

WOOSTER, O., Feb. 23.—The Republicans of Wayne County celebrated Washington's birthday at Quinly's Opera House, this city, this evening. It was enthusiastically attended, and a number of toasts were responded to by distinguished Republicans from different parts of the State. Among others, Judge J. B. Foraker, of Cincinnati, Republican candidate for Governor last fall, responded to the toast, "The Republican Party." Below are given some extracts from his speech:

When one comes to speak of the Republican party, all that is good and grand and illustrious in the last twenty-five years of American history at once rises in the mind, for while we are not so old as the Democratic party, yet our record of achievement is longer, brighter, and whether than that of any other political organization we have ever known. (Applause.) In fact, until the Republican party came into existence and new leaders appeared in this country any kind of political triumph, save only that by which the Constitution was established, whose memory the party achieving it to be remembered by mankind.

For the next fifty years after Jefferson's administration political controversies were practically confined to purely economical questions, such as the tariff, internal improvements, etc. The result was that, notwithstanding the fact that the growth of our population, and notwithstanding we had all the physical conditions for the highest development of our race, we were continually lagging in all that makes a nation strong at home and respected abroad. Our revenues were small, our credit was impaired, and we could only borrow at ruinous rates of discount. And such was the deplorable condition to which we were brought by the boasted seventy years of Democratic rule that preceded the war.

In the light of the present it is easy enough for us to see the right side of the issue. However, it was not so plain then. It was one of the unsettled questions of the day, and it required the courage of heroes to make a distinction. But the Republican party was the first to do so. It was the first to stand up for the Constitution and the laws of the country. It was the first to stand up for the rights of the people and the rights of the States. It was the first to stand up for the rights of the Union and the rights of the Republic.

The Republican party never hesitated for a moment to faithfully discharge its duties, without army or navy, or credit, if they were to be denied. It was the party of the patriot and the patriot of the people and the patriot of the country. It was the party of the patriot and the patriot of the people and the patriot of the country. It was the party of the patriot and the patriot of the people and the patriot of the country.

It struck off the shackles of the colored man, and made the slave go free, and true to the cause of freedom, it did not stop until it had raised the despised freedman to the plane of citizenship and given him the same rights as the presence of the laws. (Applause.) It encouraged immigration, provided homesteads, protected the rights of the people, and for the first time in this country for a man to earn his honest bread by the sweat of his face.

Of those who organized the Republican party, he said: It is impossible to speak of them on an occasion like this one collectively. But where is the Democrat who would blot out the name of Lincoln; who that would forget Chase, Sumner, or Stanton, or Orville Ben Wade; and who is there not found in this country, but in the whole world that does not revere the name and memory of Garfield? (Great and prolonged applause.)

We are approaching a great Presidential campaign. One frank in the Democratic party are kindly positioning, with their usual confidence, that the next President will be a Democrat. It is not so. It will be the nominee of the Chicago Convention. I don't know who that nominee will be, but whether it is John Sherman, or Blaine, or Arthur, or Logan, or any other of the distinguished names mentioned in that connection, it is certain that he will be a Republican. (Applause.)

Give us names, we say, and the people will choose. It is not the name that counts, but the principles that count. The time and disgrace of polygamy is yet to be crushed out of existence. The time and disgrace of polygamy is yet to be crushed out of existence. The time and disgrace of polygamy is yet to be crushed out of existence.

WAASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

How the Event was Recognized and Celebrated.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Washington's Birthday opened clear and cold, however, it was generally observed. All Executive Departments, Courts and all other Government buildings were closed. The Oldest Inhabitants Association, preserved the time-honored custom and held a meeting. In Alexandria, several religious organizations and an oration on his life and character delivered. The local military paraded the streets. In Alexandria, several religious organizations and an oration on his life and character delivered. The local military paraded the streets.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Feb. 23.—John L. Sterry died in this city January 4, leaving an estate valued at $500,000. He was a native of Maine about forty years of age, attended to his own business, speculated wisely in real estate, and lived the life almost of a recluse. His only wife was a daughter of the Rev. Alderman, but, aside from this, never sought or held office. Nobody knew how rich he was, particularly the tax assessor. Eleven months before his death he married Miss Caroline Doble, a young woman eighteen years of age and a resident of this city. He made during the last few days of his illness a short will leaving his property to her and the house in which they lived with its contents. There was no disposition of the remainder of his property.

A day or two after the funeral a search of the house disclosed the astonishing fact that $30,000 in cash was concealed in the secret drawers of the bureau, and that in other parts of the house were papers, mortgages and bonds, whose value will run about $100,000. It is an old but thirty premium bonds to the amount of $15,000, were found. Mr. Sterry left one brother who lived in the city of Chicago, and other relatives in Northern Ohio and Chicago. This case has excited much interest, owing to the fact that he was a quiet and dead man and his peculiar characteristics.

THE LASKER AFFAIR.

LONDON, Feb. 23.—The Times article upon the Lasker incident says: As last Parliament has obtained an opportunity to vote on the question of the Lasker affair, it is now time to consider the question of the Lasker affair. It is now time to consider the question of the Lasker affair. It is now time to consider the question of the Lasker affair.

THE TERRIBLE STORM.

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 23.—Three hundred people have been killed, nine hundred injured, and $2,000,000 worth of property destroyed in this State by the tornado. Now that the wreck is being cleared away facts and incidents are coming to light which are of peculiar interest. Jerry Henderson, of Heard County, when the storm approached, took refuge in a well. A hole lying on his face in the bottom of the well a fence rail was hurled into the well and struck him on the head, which the rail came down endways, one end striking Henderson in the back and going through him instead of the victim to the earth and killed him almost instantly. In Tallapoosa County a girl named Annie Green, while drawing a pail of water from a well, was struck on the head by a large stone and sustained a fracture of the skull. While lying on the ground apparently dead she was picked up, and after crying for her nearly fifty yards, landed her helpless form in a thicket, where she remained until rescued by her parents.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

CHICAGO Feb. 23.—There was a throng of Democratic politicians, including many Senators and Representatives, in the corridors and around the Arlington Hotel as early as 10 o'clock in the morning awaiting the meeting of the Democratic National Committee at noon. Members of rival delegations to the Convention will be present. The Convention will be held at Chicago, N. Y., and the delegates will be chosen by the Convention. The Convention will be held at Chicago, N. Y., and the delegates will be chosen by the Convention.

REGON REPUBLICANS.

PORTLAND, Feb. 23.—The Oregon Republican State Convention was held here as per announcement. All the counties in the state were represented. Portland was chosen as the place of holding the Convention, and Wednesday, April 29th, was the time fixed. The Committee has issued a call for the delegates to the Convention, which will be ratified by the Convention. According to the appointment the delegates will be chosen by the Convention. The Convention will be held at Portland, O., and the delegates will be chosen by the Convention.

SURRENDER OF TOKAR.
STAMBUK, Feb. 23.—Spies who have just arrived report that the commander of the garrison at Tokar, sent a flag of truce to the rebels Tuesday. A conference was held on Wednesday for a conditional surrender, and it was agreed to on Thursday. They stated a large number of the garrison objected strongly against the surrender, and finding their objections overruled, made their escape from Tokar during Wednesday night. The exact terms of the surrender have not been learned, but it is believed that the surrender was made on condition that the lives of the garrison and its families should be spared, and that they be allowed to make their way to Cairo.

KILLED AND SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Many barns and stables were leveled, and all the horses and milch cows in the Fairfield County plantation tenements, occupied by colored people, were demolished and many inmates killed. The dwelling of Mrs. Sterling, seventy years old, was blown down, and she was killed. A young lady living by her name was fatally injured. In Lancaster County the track of the tornado was from one to two miles wide. It blew down all the timber, orchards and grain houses and unroofed large residences. Two tornadoes encircled Columbus, neither one of which touched. At Chapel, seven persons, dead or wounded, lay on the depot platform all night and next day awaiting medical attention. Every building in the town had been torn to pieces. The tornado seems to have vented its fury throughout the entire State. Thousands of acres of forests were swept away like chaff. Railroad cars loaded with freight were lifted from the tracks and buried hundreds of yards and westward. Many instances are reported where parents and children were lifted from their homes by the storm, carried high in the air, and landed on the ground again without sustaining any injury.

DALL ROOM TRAGEDY.

Particulars of a Seasonable Case in the District Court.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 23.—Details of the killing in Harris County on the night of the 11th, show it to have been of tragic nature. The people of Columbus were attending a valentine party. Among the persons present were Sammie Hargett, son of Rev. William Hargett, and his sister, Miss Hargett, and Lorenzo Calhoun. All these people were of the highest standing in the community. The Hargett girl had just had a quarrel with her brother of certain attention which she alleged that Calhoun had caused, and which she explained quite differently by the young lady. On Thursday night at the valentine party, these two young men were thrown together when the subject of the quarrel, Calhoun, growing impatient at repeated renewals of it, declared that the charges were altogether false, and that Hargett drew a keen looking case and plunged it into Calhoun, giving him several vigorous thrusts, with which he fell bleeding and expired in a few minutes. Great excitement ensued, heightened by the screams of the ladies and the fainting of several. Hargett was taken into custody by Deputy Sheriff Flynn. Hargett, Jr., during the night escaped from his custody and is still at large.

Trying to Break a Senator's Will.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 23.—Miss Anna Earnest, a wealthy spinster of this city, died some time ago, leaving a valuable estate to her only son, the Rev. Wm. H. Earnest, a Missionary Society, the Baltimore M. E. Preachers Aid Society, and Charles M. Edge, Jr., the latter being a member of the Society against the two societies in behalf of the son of her deceased. It is contended that as the testator's will is subject to the bill of rights and the common law prohibitions that are subject to the will, it is to be turned into money this, under a recent decision of the Court of Appeals, equalizes such bequests. The Missionary Society has also been declared by the Court to be not a religious but an ecclesiastical society. The two associations will proceed to sue the county which annually robs him of thousands of cups of Congress was ill-considered in sending the resolution. Hargett was urged to resign.
